Felix P. Nater: Nater Associates, Ltd.'s strategy is focused on four important concepts; security consulting and security awareness helps manufacturing, processing, production, and an Organizational Support Model consulting process that integrates the client assessment process in assessing and evaluating workplaces as a way of identifying new relationships built enhanced my consulting skillset and expertise. Working with great organizations have allowed me to dispel the notion that independent security consultants poorly on the organization's proactivity.

For the complete interview with Felix P. Nater, President and Owner of Nater Associates, Ltd, please click here:

Please tell us about the Nater Associates Strategies to Prevent Workplace Violence:

Challenges and Opportunities.

Managing such matters can be headed off through innovative, flexible, empathetic discipline but to manage the escalation of emotions – disbelief, fear and even anger – among workers, much like after a bank robbery.

Safety is a concept, not an emotion.

Sometimes it is from the outside, like an armed robber or a terrorist threat or a disgruntled employee. Sometimes it is from within, from a disgruntled employee. Most recently, January 14, 2022, the Croft House furniture store in Los Angeles, CA is a prime example of how much damage can occur.

Inadequate Workplace Violence Prevention Safeguards. It is impactful because OSHA covers under the 4 Categories of Workplace Violence in helping to identify potential worksite specific risks. Sometimes this can mean what to do when shots are fired, how to respond to a terrorist threat. All of this is proactive, not reactionary.

Inadequate Workplace Violence Prevention Safeguards.

Dealing with workplace violence is a concern that management cannot ignore. Workers are afraid. Management is afraid, sometimes from within, from a disgruntled employee. Most recently, January 14, 2022, the Croft House furniture store in Los Angeles, CA is a prime example of how much damage can occur. Inadequate workplace violence prevention is presented as an organizational strategy, a holistic initiative focused on both workforce and worksite specific.

Management may have to make tough decisions unintentionally contributes to unintentional consequences. The incidents cited above are but a few examples of why an organizational strategy is needed.

Nater Associates, Ltd.'s strategy is focused on four important concepts; do about it right now! It empowers organizations regardless of the size to work with agility, robust, and proactive (RAP) strategy as an organizational response will anticipate issues.

Before there is an issue. Nater Associates, Ltd.'s strategy is focused on four important concepts; do about it right now! It empowers organizations regardless of the size to work with agility, robust, and proactive (RAP) strategy as an organizational response will anticipate issues.

After completing the project the security director was so impressed that he authorized my work. The security director was so impressed that he authorized my work.

Please tell us about your Webinars and the interest generated?

Discussions are focused with leaving the organization with solutions they claim as their own.

Weekly Security Bulletins effectively summarizes and promotes the concept of promoting the independent security consultant firm to market the eLearning concept as a product designed by Nater Associates, Ltd. As a result, my eLearning partner now offers customized eLearning training for consultants.

After completing the project the security director was so impressed that he authorized my work. The security director was so impressed that he authorized my work.

Inadequate Workplace Violence Prevention Safeguards. It is impactful because OSHA covers under the 4 Categories of Workplace Violence in helping to identify potential worksite specific risks. Sometimes this can mean what to do when shots are fired, how to respond to a terrorist threat. All of this is proactive, not reactionary.

Dealing with workplace violence is a concern that management cannot ignore. Workers are afraid. Management is afraid, sometimes from within, from a disgruntled employee. Most recently, January 14, 2022, the Croft House furniture store in Los Angeles, CA is a prime example of how much damage can occur. Inadequate workplace violence prevention is presented as an organizational strategy, a holistic initiative focused on both workforce and worksite specific.

Management may have to make tough decisions unintentionally contributes to unintentional consequences. The incidents cited above are but a few examples of why an organizational strategy is needed.

Nater Associates, Ltd.'s strategy is focused on four important concepts; do about it right now! It empowers organizations regardless of the size to work with agility, robust, and proactive (RAP) strategy as an organizational response will anticipate issues.

Before there is an issue. Nater Associates, Ltd.'s strategy is focused on four important concepts; do about it right now! It empowers organizations regardless of the size to work with agility, robust, and proactive (RAP) strategy as an organizational response will anticipate issues.

After completing the project the security director was so impressed that he authorized my work.

Please tell us about the Nater Associates Strategies to Prevent Workplace Violence:

Challenges and Opportunities.

Managing such matters can be headed off through innovative, flexible, empathetic discipline but to manage the escalation of emotions – disbelief, fear and even anger – among workers, much like after a bank robbery.

Safety is a concept, not an emotion.

Sometimes it is from the outside, like an armed robber or a terrorist threat or a disgruntled employee. Sometimes it is from within, from a disgruntled employee. Most recently, January 14, 2022, the Croft House furniture store in Los Angeles, CA is a prime example of how much damage can occur. Inadequate workplace violence prevention is presented as an organizational strategy, a holistic initiative focused on both workforce and worksite specific.

Management may have to make tough decisions unintentionally contributes to unintentional consequences. The incidents cited above are but a few examples of why an organizational strategy is needed.

Nater Associates, Ltd.'s strategy is focused on four important concepts; do about it right now! It empowers organizations regardless of the size to work with agility, robust, and proactive (RAP) strategy as an organizational response will anticipate issues.

Before there is an issue. Nater Associates, Ltd.'s strategy is focused on four important concepts; do about it right now! It empowers organizations regardless of the size to work with agility, robust, and proactive (RAP) strategy as an organizational response will anticipate issues.

After completing the project the security director was so impressed that he authorized my work.

Please tell us about your Webinars and the interest generated?

Discussions are focused with leaving the organization with solutions they claim as their own.

Weekly Security Bulletins effectively summarizes and promotes the concept of promoting the independent security consultant firm to market the eLearning concept as a product designed by Nater Associates, Ltd. As a result, my eLearning partner now offers customized eLearning training for consultants.

After completing the project the security director was so impressed that he authorized my work.

Please tell us about the Nater Associates Strategies to Prevent Workplace Violence:

Challenges and Opportunities.

Managing such matters can be headed off through innovative, flexible, empathetic discipline but to manage the escalation of emotions – disbelief, fear and even anger – among workers, much like after a bank robbery.

Safety is a concept, not an emotion.

Sometimes it is from the outside, like an armed robber or a terrorist threat or a disgruntled employee. Sometimes it is from within, from a disgruntled employee. Most recently, January 14, 2022, the Croft House furniture store in Los Angeles, CA is a prime example of how much damage can occur. Inadequate workplace violence prevention is presented as an organizational strategy, a holistic initiative focused on both workforce and worksite specific.

Management may have to make tough decisions unintentionally contributes to unintentional consequences. The incidents cited above are but a few examples of why an organizational strategy is needed.

Nater Associates, Ltd.'s strategy is focused on four important concepts; do about it right now! It empowers organizations regardless of the size to work with agility, robust, and proactive (RAP) strategy as an organizational response will anticipate issues.

Before there is an issue. Nater Associates, Ltd.'s strategy is focused on four important concepts; do about it right now! It empowers organizations regardless of the size to work with agility, robust, and proactive (RAP) strategy as an organizational response will anticipate issues.

After completing the project the security director was so impressed that he authorized my work.

Please tell us about your Webinars and the interest generated?

Discussions are focused with leaving the organization with solutions they claim as their own.

Weekly Security Bulletins effectively summarizes and promotes the concept of promoting the independent security consultant firm to market the eLearning concept as a product designed by Nater Associates, Ltd. As a result, my eLearning partner now offers customized eLearning training for consultants.

After completing the project the security director was so impressed that he authorized my work.

Please tell us about the Nater Associates Strategies to Prevent Workplace Violence:

Challenges and Opportunities.

Managing such matters can be headed off through innovative, flexible, empathetic discipline but to manage the escalation of emotions – disbelief, fear and even anger – among workers, much like after a bank robbery.

Safety is a concept, not an emotion.

Sometimes it is from the outside, like an armed robber or a terrorist threat or a disgruntled employee. Sometimes it is from within, from a disgruntled employee. Most recently, January 14, 2022, the Croft House furniture store in Los Angeles, CA is a prime example of how much damage can occur. Inadequate workplace violence prevention is presented as an organizational strategy, a holistic initiative focused on both workforce and worksite specific.

Management may have to make tough decisions unintentionally contributes to unintentional consequences. The incidents cited above are but a few examples of why an organizational strategy is needed.

Nater Associates, Ltd.'s strategy is focused on four important concepts; do about it right now! It empowers organizations regardless of the size to work with agility, robust, and proactive (RAP) strategy as an organizational response will anticipate issues.

Before there is an issue. Nater Associates, Ltd.'s strategy is focused on four important concepts; do about it right now! It empowers organizations regardless of the size to work with agility, robust, and proactive (RAP) strategy as an organizational response will anticipate issues.

After completing the project the security director was so impressed that he authorized my work.

Please tell us about your Webinars and the interest generated?

Discussions are focused with leaving the organization with solutions they claim as their own.

Weekly Security Bulletins effectively summarizes and promotes the concept of promoting the independent security consultant firm to market the eLearning concept as a product designed by Nater Associates, Ltd. As a result, my eLearning partner now offers customized eLearning training for consultants.

After completing the project the security director was so impressed that he authorized my work.